Axelent

A member of EHEDG

Axelent is one of the 1,300 members of the European Hygienic Engineering and Design Group. EHEDG was founded in 1989 and is a non-governmental organisation aimed at promoting hygienic design and food technology, ensuring safe products to the consumer.

This is done using standards, recommendations and certifications written and produced by members from different areas: equipment manufacturers, food industries, research institutes and public health authorities.

With our membership, we want to show that we care about you and the products that are produced in the food industry and pharmaceutical industry. With safe and well-adjusted products to specific environments, it becomes easier for you as a customer to choose the right one and focus on what is produced.
